Jim Stanford is one of Canada's best-known economists. He works for the Canadian Auto Workers union, Canada's largest private sector trade union, and writes a regular economics column for the Globe and Mail. He speaks regularly to the media on current economic issues, and to audiences of unions, community activists, and others concerned with building a more democratic, critical approach to economics. He received his Master's degree in Economics from Cambridge University, U.K., and his Ph.D. from the New School for Social Research in New York City. He was the founding chairperson of the Progressive Economics Forum, Canada's network of progressive economists. He is the author of Economics for Everyone: A Short Guide to Capitalism ((with Tony Biddle) London ; Ann Arbor, MI : Pluto Press, 2008), and Paper Boom (James Lorimer & Co., 1999).
