The Coalition for Equitable Land Acquisitions and Development in Africa (CELADA) invites students, faculty, and policy makers to explore the potential for Canada’s Feminist International Assistance Policy to strengthen African women’s access and rights to land.

A panel discussion moderated by Christopher Huggins, uOttawa will feature:

- Nyambura Githaiga, Canadian Foodgrains Bank
- Lindsay Mossman, Aga Khan Foundation
- Shakilla Umutoni, Rwanda High Commission to Canada
- Jean Symes, Interpares

Please join us on

Wednesday March 27th from 15:30 - 17:30 in FSS4006
University of Ottawa Campus, 120 University Private

Presentations will be in English, followed by a bilingual discussion